

SUPPORT THE NEXT GENERATION OF MUSICAL CITIZENS!

THE NEW YORK YOUTH SYMPHONY is a premier cultural organization nationally recognized for its innovative educational programs for talented young musicians between the ages of 12 and 22. Founded in 1963 to showcase the metropolitan area's most gifted young orchestral musicians, its activities have grown significantly to include programs in chamber music, conducting, jazz, composition, musical theater songwriting, and commissioning, serving more than 260 students annually.

Through exceptional ensemble training, performance opportunities, and career guidance, the NYYS offers invaluable opportunities for teen- and college-age musicians to train for professional careers and develop critical life skills while making pivotal decisions about their future. Over 7,000 alumni have participated in NYYS programs, including many of the world's most notable musicians, conductors, and music directors. Young alumni can be found at leading conservatories and music schools, and launching careers with major orchestras, Broadway tours, and chamber ensembles. The NYYS remains committed to making the benefits of its programs accessible beyond its core programs to young musicians in underserved communities through ongoing partnerships with the Youth Orchestra of St. Luke's, Harmony Program, Harlem School of the Arts, and more.

The COVID-19 pandemic has and continues to present challenges in how NYYS engages with its students and the music community. However, adapting to online activities, including virtual concerts, workshops, masterclasses, and video compilations, has allowed NYYS to reach an international audience, a true silver lining in this situation. NYYS students have shown incredible resilience that belies their age, and it is from them and for them that the NYYS has drawn inspiration and has planned for the season ahead. Now heading into its 58th season, the NYYS continues to create a musical path forward for the next generation of musical citizens.

THE ANNUAL BENEFIT is the New York Youth Symphony's largest and most important fundraising event of the year. Funds raised support the NYYS's innovative educational programs, which educate and inspire young musicians through exceptional training and performance opportunities. As a valued member of the NYC business community, we hope you will consider contributing to this event either through the donation of an item or through a tribute in the program. Your business will be spotlighted to over 10,000 members of the music community through the pre-event emails, the digital event program, and during the live, virtual event on October 19th. Donations are tax-deductible.

To participate, please complete the form(s) on page 2 and return to info@nyys.org by October 1, 2020.

If applicable, please submit tribute payment and creative assets by October 8, 2020 to ensure inclusion in benefit program.
